SENATE REOPENS TEAPOT DOME OIL PROBE

SENATOR TOM WALSH HANDLES INQUIRY; SUMMONS SINCLAIR

Counsel For Defense Says New Probe Is Persecution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The senate's famous Teapot Dome investigation was re-opened today, after a four-year recess, in an effort to trace a $3,800,000 fund raised in an oil deal consummated at the time the naval oil reserves were privately leased.

The fund represents the profits of The Continental Trading Co., of Canada, created by Harry F. Sinclair, and other western oil men. It assumed significance when $230,500 was traced, in Liberty Bonds, to the banking account of former secretary of the interior Albert B. Fall. The new inquiry was undertaken to learn whether other government officials shared in the profits.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Mont., resumed his role of "oil prosecutor" to handle the inquiry. He announced that M. T. Everhart, son-in-law of Fall, would be the first witness. Everhart was shown to have deposited the $230,500 in Liberty Bonds to Fall's credit in a western bank.

Government agents meanwhile were reported tracing other Liberty Bonds, bought with funds of the Continental Company. Three New York bankers were subpoenaed in this connection, apparently in an attempt to learn the numbers of all bonds bought with the Continental Company's funds.

Sinclair himself was summoned to today's session. He was to be the second witness. There were indications that both Everhart and Sinclair would refuse to testify.

Martin W. Littleton, chief attorney for Sinclair in the Teapot Dome oil trials, characterized the new senate inquiry as "outrageous persecution" of his client.

"While this man is on trial in the courts of the land," said Littleton, "it is outrageous to bring him before a senate committee, where no rules of law are observed, in an effort to get information, which would not be gotten in a court."

The resumption of the Teapot Dome inquiry recalled the part played by the senate committee, under Walsh's guidance, in the so-called "oil scandals." The original inquiry, begun in 1923 and continued into 1924, revealed such facts that the government brought suit to recover the oil fields from Sinclair and E. L. Doheny. Since then property valued at $100,000,000 was returned to the government's keeping while Doheny, Sinclair and Fall were indicted for conspiracy to defraud the government. Doheny acquitted while Sinclair and Fall got mistrial but will be tried again.

DRY ENFORCEMENT MORE EFFICIENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Prohibition enforcement in the nation has shown an increase of efficiency averaging 40 per cent during the past year, a statement issued at the treasury today declared.

The claim was based on figures by Dr. J. M. Doran, prohibition administrator, in reiterating his demand that the civil service modify the examination and give another chance to 75 per cent of the dry agents in the service, who failed in the first test.

Doran asserted that from July 1 to November 1, last year, agents seized 6,468 stills, 8,408 stills, 3,110 automobiles, and made 31,752 arrests. These figures reflect percentage increases ranging from 14 to 92 per cent, he said.

CHAMBERLIN BEGINS 30,000 MILE TRIP

HARRISBURG, Jan. 24.—Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyer, was expected here shortly after 10 a. m. today from Allentown on the second leg of his 30,000 mile trip in the interest of commercial aviation.

Chamberlin is expected to circle his tiny Speery Messenger over the business district and state capital, and then land at Middletown airport, nearby. He is to be the guest of a local publisher during his stay.

Business Outlook Bright For 1928

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—The business outlook for 1928 is bright and should continue to grow brighter, in the opinion of Samuel M. Vauclain, of Philadelphia, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, who addressed the Chicago Association of Credit Men here last night. He advocated high tariff and high wages as a boon to continued prosperity.

"Wake up and be of good cheer," said Mr. Vauclain. "The cheering voice of the optimist will soon replace that of the pessimist."

The speaker declared 1928 got a running start from a business spur that began in the closing months of 1927. He said the locomotive business of December was almost 25 per cent of that for the entire year.

Future of the steel, automobile and coal industries are particularly bright, according to Mr. Vauclain.

"The operations of our steel plants have jumped from 62 to 75 per cent of maximum capacity," he said. "Our automotive industry will show great strides during 1928, and while the competition between various companies seems great, I am convinced no price war is intended and nothing ruinous in that way will be attempted."

Regarding the coal industry, he said:

"In my opinion it would be desirable for the coal mining companies to combine and burn their fuel at its origin and then sell the resulting power to the consumer over wires or through pipes. All the by-products must be carefully conserved because the using of coal merely as fuel wastes valuable substances which could be preserved if the necessary apparatus is installed."

SWIMMING STENO IS AGAIN DEFEATED

LONDON, Jan. 24.—For the fourth time Miss Mercedes Gleitze, London typist, was defeated today in an attempt to swim the straits of Gibraltar, according to a Central News dispatch from Tangier.

This time, the dispatch said, the conqueror of the English Channel nearly lost her life. Starting the swim at 1:30 a. m., Miss Gleitze was caught in a whirlpool a few hours later and nearly drowned.

By Plane to Cuba

Senorita Alicia Calles, daughter of President Plutarco Calles, of Mexico, is attempting a flight from New York to Havana, Cuba, in the amphibian plane, Pan-America, sister ship of Mrs. Frances Grayson's ill-fated Dawn. With the daughter of the Mexican president on the trip are her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Robinson, of New York City.

COMMERCIAL PLANE ROUTES DISCUSSED AT HAVANA MEETING

Ambassador Fletcher Outlines Airways Project

HAVANA, Jan. 24.—Comprehensive plans for the development of commercial airways throughout the new world were laid before the Pan-American Conference today for consideration.

The plans were incorporated in a projected treaty on commercial aviation which was placed before the conference commission on communications by Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher of the United States.

The commission previously had assigned Mr. Fletcher to prepare and submit a report with recommendations on the particular problem of international commercial aviation.

The draft convention was prepared under the auspices of the Pan-American Union. As submitted by Mr. Fletcher, it contains thirty-six articles covering every possible phase of commercial aviation.

An introductory article states that every nation has full sovereignty over all the air above its land and territorial waters. Other clauses guarantee freedom of passage to all commercial aircraft under standard regulations corresponding to those governing ships in international trade.

There are special provisions for the making of aircraft so that their passage freely across frontiers on through trips, and for the equal treatment of all craft without discrimination among nationalities.

Reported Sandino's Main Force Split Into Small Bands

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA, Jan. 24.—Definite headway is now being made towards suppression of the revolt led by Gen. Augusto Sandino, despite the wild and difficult country in which operations are being carried on, according to U. S. Marine officers today.

The 1,000 marines being sent up to the front to reinforce the men already on the line, will be used to run down scattered bands of rebels.

Couriers report that Sandino's main force is breaking up into small bands.

A few rebels remain in the El Chipote district, where Sandino was recently reported wounded during an aerial bombardment by marines, but their numbers are insignificant.

Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, who was appointed by President Coolidge to supervise the Nicaraguan national election in October, is conferring with representatives of the government. He held an informal interview with President Diaz yesterday.

Isolated encounters between marines and little detachments of Nicaraguans are reported, but there have been no pitched battles.

PROVES SOMETHING

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Medical statistics just compiled here show that marriage is good for the digestion. Experiments proved that more married men and women between the ages of thirty and fifty suffer from indigestion than married people of the same age. The explanation given by a physician was that unmarried persons usually eat alone, and consequently eat too fast, whereas married people talk throughout their meals and eat more slowly.

KIDNAPER REMAINS CALM BEFORE LEGAL BATTLE FOR HIS LIFE

Child-Slayer Works Cross Word Puzzle About Gallows

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 24.—Los Angeles was a city in suspense today.

With last minute preparations progressing, an air of expectancy pervaded the thoroughfares and byways of the metropolis, as the hour of William Edward Hickman's appearance before the bar of justice drew nearer and nearer.

It was the last day accorded state and defense attorneys for the marshalling of forces in the impending court battle.

Tomorrow in Judge Carlos S. Hardy's superior court, the "Fox" will come to trial on charges of kidnapping and murdering 12-year-old Marion Parker.

Judge Hardy's courtroom will be the cynosure of the eyes of a nation as what promises to be California's most spectacular court drama begins.

All of the resources of the defense will be thrown into the effort to prove that the Kansas City youth knew not what he was doing when he murdered the banker's daughter, dismembered her body and tossed her mutilated form at the feet of a horror-stricken father in return for $15,000 ransom money.

All the energies of the state will be employed to batter down and demolish the plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" and send Hickman to the gallows.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 24.—A whimsical, half mocking smile on his lips, William Edward Hickman, confessed kidnaper and slayer of poor little Marion Parker, sat in his cell today and played with a crossword puzzle entitled "death on the gallows."

Within 24 hours he will go on trial for the dreadful crime which has shocked the nation.

The crossword puzzle was sent to "The Fox" by an anonymous writer who apparently wished to tease Hickman.

"Because of your predicament and because of the possible unhappy fate which faces you, I have conceived a crossword puzzle, 'death on the gallows,' which I have enclosed," the sender wrote.

And Hickman, with a sneer, accepted the challenge and is attempting to solve the puzzle.

"The word's first kidnaper" was the description given in the puzzle for the word to fit a horizontal row of squares.

"Slang word for San Quentin," was another.

Others were:

"The lower a rope."

"A strong cord used frequently in penitentiaries."

The "Fox" himself says the puzzle of "death on the gallows" fails to strike terror to his heart.

But he would. He's like that. Whether he fears death on the gallows or not, he appears as far from remorse and fear in his daily demeanor as the first day he entered the jail.

STEBENVILLE HAS $9,000 SHORTAGE

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 24.—Findings for recovery totaling $9,078.88 were contained in a report made public today by State Auditor Joseph Tracy, covering an investigation by State Examiner John H. Powlson of the records of Steubenville city offices. The report dealt with the period from February 6, 1923, to December 31, 1926.

These findings included:

Against August L. Becker, former city treasurer, in favor of the city treasury, $1,588.13, said to be "a discrepancy" in the accounts of the city treasurer's office.

Against Frank A. Hawkins, former mayor, $1,165.45, in favor of the state treasury, representing the state's share of fines collected in state liquor cases; against Hawkins, and in favor of the county treasury, $1,638.71, representing the county's share of fines collected. All findings were paid.

COSGRAVE GUEST AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—A luncheon at the White House with President and Mrs. Coolidge was the high light of a busy day mapped out for William T. Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State.

Preceding the luncheon Cosgrave arranged to go to Arlington Cemetery to place a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Tonight he will be a dinner guest of Timothy Smiddy, Irish minister to Washington.

HICKMAN'S FATHER VISITS SON

Here are William Edward Hickman and his father, Thomas Hickman, railroador of El Paso, Tex., resulted in the kidnaper-murderer's cell in Los Angeles. Hickman senior, who has been estranged from his family for some years, came to testify for his son. He found his son flat on his back on his jail bunk, ill from the effects of an operation to remove spinal fluid for insanity tests.

LEGISLATIVE PHASES OF RADIO SITUATION COME TO SHOWDOWN

Hearings On Confirmation Of Members And On Bill Extending Body For Year Scheduled This Week.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—A show down in the legislative phases of the radio situation may take place this week with hearings both on the confirmation of members of the federal commission and on the bill to extend the life of this body for another year.

Until these questions are settled definitely the commission's consideration of changes in the broadcast stations and allocations of short wave length channels has been brought to a halt, it was learned today.

The house merchant marine and fisheries committee is scheduled to consider Thursday the resolution extending the commission. Further hearings on the confirmation of Commissioners O. H. Caldwell, Sam Pickard and Harold A. LaFontaine will be held by the Interstate Commerce committee of the senate late in the week. Senator Watson (R) of Indiana, chairman, is said to be favorably inclined to confirmation of the members.

While the commission was attacked because it avoided bringing the constitutional issue of the radio act to a test, officials declared the such action simply "would have frozen the chaos of the air" indefinitely. If the law had been taken to the courts immediately upon the

EX-BANK EXAMINER SENT TO ATLANTA

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 24.—Robert Montgomery, 63, Wheeling, W. Va., former national bank examiner, was today awaiting transportation to Atlanta where he is to serve two years in the federal prison, following his plea of guilty, late yesterday, when charged in federal court with having defrauded the First National Bank of Powhatan Point, W. Va., of approximately $10,000.

John A. Green, 45, for seventeen years cashier of the bank was sentenced to four months in the Logan County, Ohio, Jail, when he pleaded guilty to a similar charge.

Greene's lighter sentence was imposed after he surrendered $12,000 to make up the bank's deficit.

ARRIVES IN ROME

ROME, Jan. 24.—M. Titulescu, the foreign minister of Roumania, arrived today for a four-day visit.

CHURCH COMMITTEE SPLITS ON ENDORSEMENT OF EQUAL RIGHTS

DECLINES TO FAVOR ENFORCING 14TH-15TH AMENDMENTS

Approves Plan Of Sex Education In Churches

CLEVELAND, Jan. 24.—The executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America will, at its closing session today, consider a re-draft of a resolution to endorse the enforcement of the 14th amendment to the United States constitution, which the committee failed to adopt yesterday when a sharp division arose over the inclusion of the 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution.

The 14th amendment says no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States. The 15th amendment declares for the equal rights of the negro and white citizens.

The support of the 15th amendment was unanimous by the executive committee, but the addition of the other two amendments arrayed representatives from the Southern white churches against delegates from the negro churches in a wordy battle most of yesterday afternoon.

The resolution was re-committed to the business committee for re-drafting and will be presented to the session again today.

Sex education by churches was approved by the federal council.

The five year program of co-operative rural and urban evangelism as formulated by the national church committee conference which closed Jan. 20, was adopted by the three sponsoring organizations and now becomes the program of thirty Protestant denominations with a combined membership of 20,000,000.

The three bodies meeting here, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, The Home Missions Council and the Women's Council for Home Missions will close their sessions today.

DENY LINDBERGH IS NEARING COLLAPSE

BALBOA, Jan. 24.—Reports that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was on the verge of a nervous collapse were denied today by Col. A. G. Fisher, at whose home the young aviator is staying.

Emphasizing that the flying colonel was in good health as a result of his recent vacation at Boquete, in the interior of Panama, Col. Fisher told the International News Service that he was unable to account for the many reports to the contrary.

J. HAL MATTHEWS SUMMONED AT AGE OF 93; WAS VETERAN MASON

J. Hal Matthews, 93, one of the oldest Masons in the United States and well known Xenia pioneer, died at his home, 228 W. Main St., Tuesday morning at 1:40 o'clock. Death was attributed to old age, with bronchial trouble a contributing cause. He had been seriously ill six weeks.

Mr. Matthews was born here ninety-three years ago but at the age of ten moved to Columbus where he remained ten years. Returning here in 1854 at the age of twenty-two, he engaged in the meat business with his uncle, John Eyer.

In 1864 Mr. Matthews became one of the "hundred day men" in the Civil War, this group being called to arms at the threatened invasion of Morgan. He was located at Camp Denison, O., and became First Lieutenant of B Com.

FEDERAL PRISONERS ESCAPE BY DIGGING THROUGH JAIL WALL

DETROIT, Jan. 24.—Twenty-one federal prisoners held for trial in the Elmwood Police Station under custody of the Wayne County sheriff's office dug their way to freedom today.

Using pieces of metal ripped from the wash room fixtures, the prisoners worked quietly cutting away the heavy brick wall in the rear of the jail.

A general alarm of the escape was sounded in this section of the city today.

Most of the prisoners were accused as dope peddlers or addicts, and some of them are considered to be desperate men.

DEMAND THAT STATES PAY FOR FLOOD CONTROL CAUSES ROW

Valley State Representatives Battle Jadwin Program—Engineer Blames Payment Policy On Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—A bitter struggle over the administration of the federal government's demand that valley states assume part of the cost of controlling floods on the Mississippi River was forecast today as the question was debated in both senate and house committees.

The house flood control is badly split on the question, it was disclosed as Major-General Edgar Jadwin was grilled as the last witness in the committee's hearings which have already lasted for two and a half months.

In the senate commerce committee's hearings, senators from valley states were driving home their contention that the people are already bankrupt in their fight against floods and that failure of the federal government to assume the whole burden means all flood control plans will fail.

Jadwin, whose plan of flood control was approved by President Coolidge, stoutly maintained that congress itself had established the policy of making local communities

SEVEN PERISH IN AUTO PLUNGE

Drag River Bed For Victims

NORWICH, Conn., Jan. 24.—Police and firemen today were dragging the waters of the Snettucket River here for the bodies of two children, victims of a tragedy which took the lives of a family of seven here last night.

Herbert Whitaker, 30, his wife and their five children were drowned when their automobile, pulled sharply to one side to avoid striking a motorcyclist, crashed through the wooden railing on the Preston bridge here and plunged forty feet to the river below.

The scheme, it is claimed by supporters, was first suggested by Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury, in 1794.

Meanwhile the house agriculture committee continued its exploration into new phases of the McNary-Haugen bill, with backers encouraged by the opposition of ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois to any compromise scheme.

JAPAN SIGNS NEW SOVIET AGREEMENT

MOSCOW, Jan. 24.—Evidence of a growing friendship between Japan and Soviet Russia was seen today in the signing of a new fishery convention whereby Japanese fishermen are given the right to operate in the Russian waters of the Japan, Bering and Okhotsk Seas.

By the convention, which runs for eight years, the Japanese fishermen are benefited to the extent of fifteen million dollars annually. Negotiations for the agreement have been going on for two years and the differences between the two nations were ironed out by Viscount Goto's recent visit to Moscow.

SENATE REOPENS TEAPOT DOME OIL PROBE

SENATOR TOM WALSH HANDLES INQUIRY; SUMMONS SINCLAIR

Counsel For Defense Says New Probe Is Per- secution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—

The senate's famous Teapot Dome investigation was re-opened today, after a four-year recess, in an effort to trace a $3,800,000 fund raised in an oil deal consummated at the time the naval oil reserves were privately leased.

The fund represents the profits of The Continental Trading Co., of Canada, created by Harry F. Sinclair, and other western oil men. It assumed significance when $230,500 was traced, in Liberty Bonds, to the banking account of former secretary of the interior Albert B. Fall. The new inquiry was undertaken to learn whether other government officials shared in the profits.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Mont., resumed his role of "oil prosecutor" to handle the inquiry. He announced that M. T. Everhart, son-in-law of Fall, would be the first witness. Everhart was shown to have deposited the $230,500 in Liberty bonds to Fall's credit in a western bank.

Government agents meanwhile were reported tracing other Liberty bonds, bought with funds of the Continental Company. Three New York bankers were subpoenaed in this connection, apparently in an attempt to learn the numbers of all bonds bought with the Continental Company's funds.

Sinclair himself was summoned to today's session. He was to be the second witness. There were indications that both Everhart and Sinclair would refuse to testify.

Martin W. Littleton, chief attorney for Sinclair in the Teapot Dome case, characterized the new senate inquiry as "outrageous persecution" of his client.

"While this man is on trial in the courts of the land," said Littleton, "it is outrageous to bring him before a senate committee, where no rules of law are observed, in an effort to get information which wouldn't be gotten in a court."

The resumption of the Teapot Dome inquiry recalled the part played by the senate committee, under Walsh's guidance, in the so-called "oil scandals." The original inquiry, begun in 1923 and continued into 1924, revealed such facts that the government brought suit to recover the oil fields from Sinclair and E. L. Doheny. Since then property valued at $100,000,000 was returned to the government's keeping while Doheny, Sinclair and Fall were indicted for conspiracy to defraud the government. Doheny acquitted while Sinclair and Fall got mistrial but will be tried again.

DRY ENFORCEMENT MORE EFFICIENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Prohibition enforcement in the nation has shown an increase of efficiency averaging 40 per cent during the past year, a statement issued at the treasury today declared.

The claim was based on figures by Dr. J. M. Doran, prohibition administrator, in reiterating his demand that the civil service modify the examination and give another chance to 75 per cent of the dry agents in the service, who failed in taking the first test.

Doran asserted that from July 1 to November 1, last year, agents seized 6,168 distillers, 8,408 stills, 3,110 automobiles, and made 31,872 arrests. These figures reflect percentage increases ranging from 14 to 92 per cent, he said.

CHAMBERLIN BEGINS 30,000 MILE TRIP

HARRISBURG, Jan. 24.—Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyer, was expected here shortly after 10 a. m. today from Allentown on the second lap of his 30,000 mile trip in the interest of commercial aviation.

Chamberlin is expected to circle his tiny Sperry Messenger over the business district and state capitol, and then land at Middletown airport, nearby. He is to be the guest of a local publisher during his stay.

CHURCH COMMITTEE SPLITS ON ENDORSEMENT OF EQUAL RIGHTS

DECLINES TO FAVOR ENFORCING 14TH- 15TH AMENDMENTS

Approves Plan Of Sex Education In Churches

CLEVELAND, Jan. 24.—The executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America today, at its closing session, adopted a resolution endorsing the enforcement of the 14th amendment to the United States constitution, which the committee failed to adopt yesterday when a sharp division arose over the inclusion of the 14th and 15th amendments to the resolution.

The 14th amendment says no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States. The 15th amendment declares for the equal rights of the negro and white citizens.

The support of the 14th amendment was unanimous by the executive committee, but the addition of the other two amendments arrayed representatives from the Southern white churches against delegates from the negro churches in a wordy battle most of yesterday afternoon.

The resolution was recommended to the business committee for redrafting and will be presented to the session again today.

Sex education by churches was approved by the federal council. The five year program of cooperative rural and urban evangelism as formulated by the national church committee conference which closed Jan. 20, was adopted by the three sponsoring organizations and now becomes the program of thirty Protestant denominations with a combined membership of 20,000,000.

NORWICH, Conn., Jan. 24.—Police and firemen today were dragging the waters of the Snetterton River here for the bodies of two children, victims of a tragedy which took the lives of a family of seven here last night.

Herbert Whitaker, 30, his wife and their five children were drowned when their auto, mobile, pulled sharply to one side to avoid striking a motorcyclist, crashed through the wooden railing on the Preston bridge here and plunged forty feet to the river below.

J. HAL MATTHEWS SUMMONED AT AGE OF 93; WAS VETERAN MASON

J. Hal Matthews, 93, one of the oldest Masons in the United States and well known Xenia pioneer, died at his home, 225 W. Main St., Tuesday morning at 1:40 o'clock. Death was attributed to old age, with bronchial trouble a contributing cause. He had been seriously ill six weeks.

Mr. Matthews was born here ninety-three years ago but at the age of ten moved to Columbus where he remained ten years. Returning here in 1854 at the age of twenty years, he engaged in meat business with his uncle, John Eyer.

In 1864 Mr. Matthews became one of the "hundred day men" in the Civil War, this group being called to arms at the threatened invasion of Morgan. He was located at Camp Denison, O., and became First Lieutenant of B Company.

By Plane to Cuba

Senorita Alicia Calles, daughter of President Plutarco Calles, of Mexico, is attempting a flight from New York to Havana, Cuba, in the amphibian plane, Pan-America, sister ship of Mrs. Frances Grayson's ill-fated Dawn. With the daughter of the Mexican president on the trip are her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Robinson, of New York City.

COMMERCIAL PLANE ROUTES DISCUSSED AT HAVANA MEETING

Ambassador Fletcher
Outlines Airways
Project

HAVANA, Jan. 24.—Comprehensive plans for the development of commercial airways throughout the new world were laid before the Pan-American Conference today for consideration.

The plans were incorporated in a projected treaty on commercial aviation which was placed before the conference commission on communications by Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher of the United States.

The commission previously had assigned Mr. Fletcher to prepare and submit a report with recommendations, on the particular problem of international commercial aviation.

The draft convention was prepared under the auspices of the Pan-American Union. As submitted by Mr. Fletcher, it contains thirty-six articles covering every possible phase of commercial aviation.

An introductory article states that every nation has full sovereignty over all the air above its land and territorial waters. Other clauses guarantee freedom of passage to all commercial aircraft under standard regulations corresponding to those governing ships in international trade.

There are special provisions for the marking of aircraft so that their passage freely across frontiers on through trips, and for the equal treatment of all craft without discrimination among nationalities.

Rejected Plan Again
Offered As Help
For Farmers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Encouraged by the split in the "corn belt" backers of the McNary-Haugen Bill, the National Grange today launched a new campaign to translate its debenture plan into law.

L. J. Taber of Columbus, Ohio, master of the grange, announced that the grange's executive committee, after a meeting lasting several days, had decided to continue support of the debenture plan without reference to other farm bills.

Already sponsored in the house by Rep. Jones (D) of Texas, the debenture plan will also be urged before the senate agriculture committee.

The debenture plan, which was rejected in congress last year, calls for payment of export losses on farm products out of tariff receipts.

The scheme, it is claimed by supporters, was first suggested by Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury, in 1790.

Meanwhile the house agriculture committee continued its exploration into new phases of the McNary-Haugen bill, with backers encouraged by the opposition of ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois to any compromise scheme.

DEFINITE HEADWAY BEING MADE TOWARD DEFEATING REBELS

Reported Sandino's Main Force Split Into Small Bands

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA, Jan. 24.—Definite headway is now being made, towards suppression of the revolt led by Gen. Augusto Sandino, despite the wild and difficult country in which operations are being carried on, according to U. S. Marine officers today.

The 1,000 marines being sent up to the front to reinforce the men already on the line, will be used to run down scattered bands of rebels.

Couriers report that Sandino's main force is breaking up into small bands.

A few rebels remain in the El Chilpote district, where Sandino was recently reported wounded during an aerial bombardment by marines, but their numbers are insignificant.

Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, who was appointed by President Coolidge to supervise the Nicaraguan national election in October, is conferring with representatives of the government. He held an informal interview with President Diaz yesterday.

Isolated encounters between marines and little detachments of Nicaraguans are reported, but there have been no pitched battles.

KIDNAPER REMAINS CALM BEFORE LEGAL BATTLE FOR HIS LIFE

Child-Slayer Works Cross
Word Puzzle About
Gallows

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 24.—Los Angeles was a city in suspense today.

With last minute preparations progressing, an air of expectancy pervaded the thoroughfares and byways of the metropolis, as the hour of William Edward Hickman's appearance before the bar of justice drew nearer and nearer.

It was the last day accorded state and defense attorneys for the marshalling of forces in the impending court battle.

Tomorrow in Judge Carlos S. Hardy's superior court, the "Fox" will come to trial on charges of kidnapping and murdering 12-year-old Marion Parker.

Judge Hardy's courtroom will be the cynosure of the eyes of a nation as what promises to be California's most spectacular court drama begins.

All of the resources of the defense will be thrown into the effort to prove that the Kansas City youth knew not what he was doing when he murdered the banker's daughter, dismembered her body and tossed her mutilated form at the feet of a horror-stricken father in return for $1,500 ransom money.

All the energies of the state will be employed to batter down and demolish the plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" and send Hickman to the gallows.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 24.—A whimsical, half mocking smile on his lips, William Edward Hickman, confessed kidnaper and slayer of poor little Marion Parker, sat in his cell today and played with a crossword puzzle entitled "death in the gallows."

Within 24 hours he will go on trial for the dreadful crime which has shocked the nation.

The crossword puzzle was sent to "The Fox" by an anonymous writer who apparently wished to tease Hickman.

"Because of your predicament and because of the possible punishment which faces you, I have conceived a crossword puzzle, 'death in the gallows,' which I have enclosed," the sender wrote.

And Hickman, with a sneer, accepted the challenge and is attempting to solve the puzzle.

"The world's first kidnaper" was the description given in the puzzle for the word to fit a horizontal row of squares.

"Slang word for San Quentin," was another.

Others were:

"The lower a rope."

"A strong cord used frequently in penitentiaries."

The "Fox" himself says the puzzle of "death in the gallows" fails to strike terror to his heart.

But he would. He's like that. Whether he fears death on the gallows or not, he appears as far from remorse and fear in his daily demeanor as he did the first day he entered the jail.

STEBENVILLE HAS $9,000 SHORTAGE

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 24.—Findings for recovery totaling $9,078.88 were today in a report, made public by State Auditor Joseph Tracy, covering an investigation by State Examiner John H. Powelson of the records of Steubenville city offices. The report dealt with the period from February 6, 1923, to December 31, 1926.

These findings included:

Against August L. Becker, former city treasurer, in favor of the city treasury, $1,588.13, said to be "a discrepancy" in the accounts of the city treasurer's office.

Against Frank A. Hawkins, former mayor, $1,165.45, in favor of the state treasury, representing the state's share of fines collected in state liquor cases; against Hawkins, and in favor of the county treasury, $1,633.71, representing the county's share of fines collected. All findings were paid.

COSGRAVE GUEST AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—A luncheon at the White House with President and Mrs. Coolidge was the high light of a busy day mapped out for William T. Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State.

Preceding the luncheon Cosgrave arranged to go to Arlington Cemetery to place a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Tonight he will be a dinner guest of Timothy Smiddy, Irish minister to Washington.

JUNIOR SAFETY PATROL SWORN IN AND BEGINS WORK TUESDAY

H. C. PENDRY

PETER SHAGIN

SILVER BELDEN

Attired in bright red caps, white "Sam Brown" belts and glistening badges, twelve youngsters composing the newly-organized Safety Patrol were scheduled to receive their "baptism of fire" in directing traffic in the vicinity of city public and parochial school buildings Tuesday.

H. C. Pendry, city school superintendent, as president of the patrol, appointed the boys on recommendation of teachers, from Junior High School, East High School, St. Brigid High School and McKinley and Spring Hill grade buildings. They assembled at City Hall Monday afternoon and were sworn in as special officers by Mayor John

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have hollow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged. Live it right. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 50c and 60c.

Junior High School—Lewis Cost, Robert Chew and David Short; St. Brigid High School—George Anderson and Edward Murray; East High School—James Hamilton, Otis White and Alvin Hall; McKinley—Robert Hunt and Earl Short; Spring Hill—Ralph Hirsch and Donald Jones.

Superintendent Pendry will serve as president; Oliver Belden, auto club secretary, as counsel; and Peter Shagin as captain of the patrol.

pany One hundred and fifty-fourth Infantry.

In the meantime Mr. Matthews and the late Webb Cosley purchased a lively stable here and returning from the service, Mr. Matthews bought out his partner and operated the business seventeen years. He then sold that business and bought the Commercial Hotel, where the Gazette Building is now located.

After operating the Commercial about three years, he sold it to purchase the St. George, later the Florence, still later the Manhattan and now the Dakin Hotel. He operated the St. George a year. For a number of years he acted as constable of Xenia Township.

He was an ardent disciple of Isaac Walton, and when the weather permitted hunted the streams of this section. He was also much interested in hunting until the last few years, and used to relate tales of the same to those who marked the hunting season here.

Mr. Matthews acted as Tyler for the three Masonic organizations nearly twenty-five years, only relinquishing his duties when his health would not permit his attendance. He guarded the outer door at meetings of Xenia Lodge, No. 48, Free and Accepted Masons, Xenia Chapter, No. 36, Royal Arch Masons and Wright Council, No. 36, Royal and Selected Masters. As a Mason sixty years and Tyler of the three local organizations for about twenty-five years. Mr. Matthews was much interested in lodge work and never missed a meeting until his health failed.

Mr. Matthews first became a Mason when he was made Master of Xenia Lodge, No. 48, Free and Accepted Masons, November 30, 1864. He became a member of Xenia Chapter, No. 36, Royal and Arch Masons, September 30, 1865 and was made a member of Reese Council, No. 8, Royal and Selected Masters, Dayton, July 5, 1867. Later he was organizer and charter member of Wright Council, No. 36, R. and S. M., this city and was taken in April 7, 1871. He was also a member of the Masonic Veterans Association, a state organization and was the oldest member of all Xenia Masonic organizations at the time of his death. He was also a member of Lewis Post, G. A. R.

Surviving are three daughters and one son: Mrs. Frank Arnold, Waco, Tex.; Mrs. Frank Scott, Kingston, N. Y.; Mrs. Flora Gallagher, Colorado Springs, Colo.; and Fred Matthews, Colorado Springs. Two sons, Charles and Rodney, preceded him in death.

The body was taken to the J. H. Whitmer Funeral Parlor until funeral arrangements are completed.

WEIGH WHAT YOU DESIRE

If you over-weight, the cause may not be in over-eating or under-exercise. It may be in a fault in nutrition which modern research has discovered. And which science now corrects.

The method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And many of the people you see with slender figures, new vivacity and health—will urge you to adopt this way.

The use of Marmola does not require abnormal exercise or diet. In every box you will find the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know just why your weight comes down and why every effort is helpful. Learn the facts, and do it now. Do so by asking your druggist today for a $1 box of Marmola.

DRAMATIC CLASSES TO PRESENT THREE PLAYS JANUARY 26

Three plays will be presented by the dramatic art classes of Central High School Thursday night, January 26.

"Cinderella Married," is the title of the play to be presented by high school students of the classes.

Characters are Joan Marshall, Joan Collins, Esther Ford, Florence DeMint, Robert Adair and Margaret Jane Evans.

Junior High students will again present "Great Caesar," a humorous production given for the student body before the holidays.

Characters: Robert Chew, Philip Aultman, Robert Friedman, Mary Waddle, Miriam Cox, William Wagner and John Beacham.

Children of McKinley grade school will also take part in the program and present a play.

The various casts are under the direction of Miss Esther Muriel Smith, dramatics instructor.

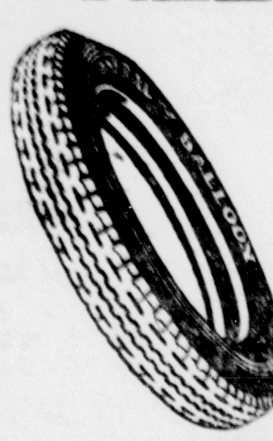

Admission for grade school pupils will be 15 cents, for high school students 25 cents and adults, 50 cents.

PILES TREATED and a Cure Guaranteed

Any form of Piles (itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding) are dangerous if neglected. Every Druggist sells PAZO OINTMENT with the understanding that money will be refunded if it fails to cure. In tubes with pile pipe, 75c; or in tin box, 90c.

FOUR MONTHS "Winter Mileage"

FREE

Right now, and for the next four months, you need the safety of new rubber and non-skid protection more than any other time of the year. Treads that are worn smooth make dangerous driving in ice, snow and slush.

Putting on new Dual Grip Generals now, you can drive the next four months with no appreciable wear because good rubber shows practically no wear in cold weather.

In addition to having perfect non-skid protection during the bad months you can start the Spring season with tires still practically new and ready for a year or two. You can figure your four months winter mileage on Dual Grip Generals as free.

Your worn tires not only make winter driving risky but increase gasoline consumption with excessive slippage on wet streets. Drive in today. Let us take off your worn tires, make you a full allowance for the unused mileage left in them and put on a new set of Dual Grip Generals that will give you the maximum in non-skid protection.

With the rubber price now above 40 cents per pound, tires are still selling at prices set when rubber was 34 cents.

CHURCH ASKS COURT FOR AUTHORITY TO BORROW; OTHER NEWS

Seeking to pay off the balance of a mortgage due on the church building, the Nazarene Church, this city, through Attorney Harry D. Smith, has filed application in Common Pleas Court for authority to borrow $1,800.

The Second United Presbyterian Church, this city, holds a mortgage on property owned by the petitioner, representing the unpaid balance of the purchase price, according to the application.

The petitioner asserts the mortgagee has offered to make a substantial reduction in the indebtedness if the church will pay off the entire mortgage money remaining due, immediately.

The church will need $1,800 to complete the transaction and has arranged for a loan of that amount, the application recites.

APPEAL TAKEN

Leland Cramer has filed an appeal in Common Pleas Court from a decision of R. O. Copsey, justice of the peace, awarding Earl M. Lawson $24.05 damages, the full amount sought, as a result of a minor auto accident December 13, 1927 on S. Detroit St., in front of the Gazette Bldg.

Lawson claimed he was driving a sedan north on S. Detroit St. in a careful manner and that Cramer's car was parked on the east side of the street parallel with the curb. As Lawson had driven partly past the car, the defendant, without warning or giving a signal, turned away from the curb striking the rear fender on the sedan and damaging it, Lawson claimed.

PLANT LATE POTATOES EARLY

Late varieties of potatoes, such as the Rural Russet, produced higher yields last year in tests made by the Ohio Experiment Station than from plantings made at the usual time late in May.

All the potatoes were thoroughly sprayed. The early plantings survived the few hot days of midsummer and matured about September 10. This was a growing season of about five months, including favorable cool weather of both spring and fall.

Experiments on time of planting have been carried on by John Bushnell, associate in horticulture, at the Ohio Experiment Station, for six years. In two of the six seasons, early April plantings gave the highest yields; in the other four, the late May plantings were best.

Planting the late varieties either in early April or in late May is recommended rather than planting between these dates.

The advantages of early April planting, Dr. Bushnell points out, are that the seed is in excellent condition when planted, no sprouting having taken place in storage; the crop matures early in September, giving ample time for digging the potatoes and seeding the ground in wheat.

No difficulty was encountered from planting potatoes in cold soil. Practically perfect stands were obtained from the April plantings each year. Potatoes will sprout in a soil at 45 degrees or warmer. The soil reaches this temperature almost as soon as it can be worked in the spring. Early planting may be made with safety immediately after oats are planted.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1:30 at the residence in Dayton.

SUIT SETTLED FOR $9,000; ORIGINAL ACTION FOR $50,000

The $50,000 damage suit of Margaret Hoog, as administratrix of the estate of William P. Hoog, deceased, against the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., filed in Common Pleas Court June 13, 1927, has been settled by the company for $9,000 according to an entry appearing in Probate Court.

Probate Court authorized the administratrix to settle the damage claim for this amount and gave her Funeral arrangements today were being held in abeyance pending receipt of instructions from Mrs. Laura Mae Corrigan, the widow, who is in New York. She was advised of her husband's death by telephone.

Corrigan for years had been a leader in Cleveland's business and social life. He was the son of James Corrigan and Ida Allen Corrigan. In addition to his large steel holdings, estimated to be worth millions, Corrigan was a member of the Union and Cleveland Athletic Clubs here and was connected with the Racquet Club of Chicago and the Hurlingham Club of England. He was once the owner of a large racing stable.

When this animated mouse trap reached the shop of an Oakland, Cal., florist he noticed it was heavier than similar plants. Examination revealed the body of a mouse and at the bottom of the stem reposed remains of beetles, insects and worms, lured to their doom by some alluring odor given off by the plant. Above, the plant and artist's conception of how it all happened.

NEW TYPE OF POLITICS

The professional politician is passing; the political leader in America of tomorrow will be the young man who has made a success of business life and who takes a thorough knowledge of business and human nature into politics. So equipped, he will owe no debt to selfish interests and will be capable of running government on the business basis which the American people are coming to demand.

There are the views of Governor Harry Byrd of Virginia. Governor Byrd, although he is but 38, is the eldest of the three famous Byrd brothers of Virginia, the others being Commander Richard Byrd, hero of the North Pole and trans-Atlantic flights, and Tom Byrd, World war hero and prosperous Maryland planter.

I don't think highly of a professional political career for anybody, says the youngest governor of the nation's oldest commonwealth. Politics is not a separate branch of knowledge. It needs a very deep background of general experience.

No man, says the governor, is qualified to assume political power until he has served a long apprenticeship to private business and has learned its connection with public affairs. It is on the broad basis of sound business economics that the business of the state should be conducted.

TALK IS CHEAP; ONLY $27 A MINUTE

If you are capable of talking $81 worth in three minutes you can now call up your friends in Brussels or Antwerp and have a little chat. If you haven't said all you have on your mind at the end of three minutes you can continue your little confab at the rate of 45 cents a second or $1620 an hour.

Since Belgium is the only continental country in Europe connected with the local telephone exchange, King Albert is the only king you can call up just now in addition to King George of England who has been in telephone reach for a number of weeks.

You may not have occasion to call up kings and premiers every day but it is some satisfaction to know that you might if they were not always so busy.

This new wire and radio connection is a remarkable scientific achievement and is only a start of the things to come.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE BIG TEN

New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Cleveland, St. Louis, Baltimore, Boston and Pittsburgh are the big ten American cities according to the newest estimates of the census bureau. That gives a distinction to each of those cities and the people who live in them are justly proud. But when we think of the hundred and fifteen millions of folks who make up the United States our thoughts turn to the countless villages, hamlets, small towns, little cities, and wide farms where the rest of the people live. And some of the biggest folk in the world live in the littlest towns.

GETTING ACTION

If we were laying down a program for mankind or at least for the United States of America for the year 1928 we would say that the time had come for a major effort to "do something about something." For years the newspapers and magazines have been full of investigations into a hundred different things—their causes and effects. The archives are full of long reports and findings and conclusions. There are organizations of every conceivable sort to study and learn about every conceivable thing. We run down in theory the causes of the crime wave and flaming youth and hard times and high prices and unhappy farmers, etc. But we are not in the habit of doing anything about anything. When shall we begin to act on our conclusions? When shall we begin to do something about things?

THIS YEAR

There are indications that 1928 is going to be more like 1926 for production than like 1927. Nineteen twenty-six was a record year. Faster and faster luxury grows into habit. The good fortune of one automobile company proves the good fortune of other automobile companies. The introduction of a new car at an attractive price doesn't put somebody else out of business. Instead it stimulates the motor car trade. Wide advertising creates new demand for cars and the buyers distribute their favors. They don't all want the same car. The old wisecracker who many years ago declared that competition is the life of trade knew what he was talking about.

AN ACCIDENT?

Allan L. Benson, once Socialist candidate for president, reading a paper before a scientific association, says: "Man happened to be descended from a stock that had curiosity, got out of the tree, walked erect, had a thumb that enabled him to handle tools, and imagination with which to use them."

Most of this is true. Undoubtedly man is to be regarded as a natural outgrowth from and an improvement on a lower animal—but man is no accident. Somebody knew what it was all about and set this amazing process of evolution into motion.

GENE FIELD

When Eugene Field wrote "Little Boy Blue" he was inspired by his love for all children. His sweet and sincere nature responded to the trust of a child. The beauty and pathos of the lines that tell of the angel song that awakened the little boy blue can never be forgotten. And now a Eugene Field Memorial cemetery for orphaned and poor children has been established not far from Chicago where the poet lived. It is appropriate that the name of one who so greatly cared for children should be associated with the place where the tired little bodies of the homeless may rest in peace.

COURTESY

Much talk about courtesy as the rule of the road. Let's not keep courtesy outdoors all the time. Why not try making courtesy the rule of the home?

The Daybook

OF A

New Yorker

—By—
BURTON RASCOE

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—There's a small tea room in Grand Central, just opposite the entrance to the subway. It's a tiny place, holding at the utmost a score of tea drinkers. At noon, yesterday, I counted seven women meekly waiting in line outside the door for the diners inside to finish. It was much too crowded for them to wait inside.

The man who writes in the Evening World under an "Inns and Outs of New York" title has a strong method of linking up facts. One of his writings was quoted here before I think. Recently, he was interviewing a lady acrobat and aviator in her room at a hotel. "By a strange coincidence," says he, "Miss Gatlin occupies the same room formerly occupied by Commander Byrd." Maybe the fact that they both have two ears is the coincidence.

A competent first-nighter declares that formal dress seldom extends beyond row L in most of the theaters. Also that the balcony at the Maxine Elliott is now peopled with toney customers since "Coquette" became the play to see. Specs are selling out all tickets for the evening performance at fancy prices, in the early afternoon.

There's one Manhattan cop at least who may pay attention the next time I tell him how much pull I've got. Encouraged by the following incident, I may work up enough courage the next time I'm stopped for traffic violation to risk a bust in the nose by muttering, "I'll break you for this!"

He was a new justice, entering the Tombs building, and as he emerged from his sedan, an officer strode up.

"Can't read, fella? No parkin' here, that sign says, and it means what it says."

"I know, officer," the new official replied, "but I'm a presiding judge in this building."

"Yeah! Glad to meet you, I'm Mayor Walker. C'mon now, none of your appeasance. Back to your wagon and move it quick!"

The judge obeyed and parked his car a few blocks away. Next day, however, the coup fell to bridling and stuttering when another dignitary of the building introduced the man whom he had given the air.

One of the small cars competing with Ford has a clever stunt in one of its Brooklyn salerooms. The customer is told that the particular car on view is a talking automobile. When the customer smiles and says, "What's the gag?" the salesman avows he'll prove it. He asks the car a long string of questions about its construction and its merits. The auto apparently answers and in so doing gives a good account of itself.

The auditors, amazed, peer into the car and under, looking for a plant. They find none, but the dodge is simple. Concealed under the hood is a telephone loud-speaker and microphone which is connected with another room.

The boys on the Big Street hold a grudge against Maurice Campbell, the prohibition director, who was formerly a Broadway theatrical producer. He is the man responsible for the recent raid on the Chez Morgan night club. It is altogether traitorous, according to those in the profession.

Another story concerning the police has it that a man accosted a new traffic cop on Fourth avenue.

"Can you tell me how I can go to Yonkers from here?" he inquired.

"Sorry," the officer said, "but I'm a stranger around here."

And it's quite likely.

Kellygrams

By FRED C. KELLY

VENICE

Most of the six-hour train ride from Milan to Venice is through country as flat and commonplace as any farming section of the Middle West. The main difference is that the Italians raise corn in the little fields that impress you as being about the area we would devote to barley.

Each Italian train has a soldier aboard for the purpose of guarding against petty thieving; it is now possible to step out for fresh air on a station platform and still find your baggage where you left it.

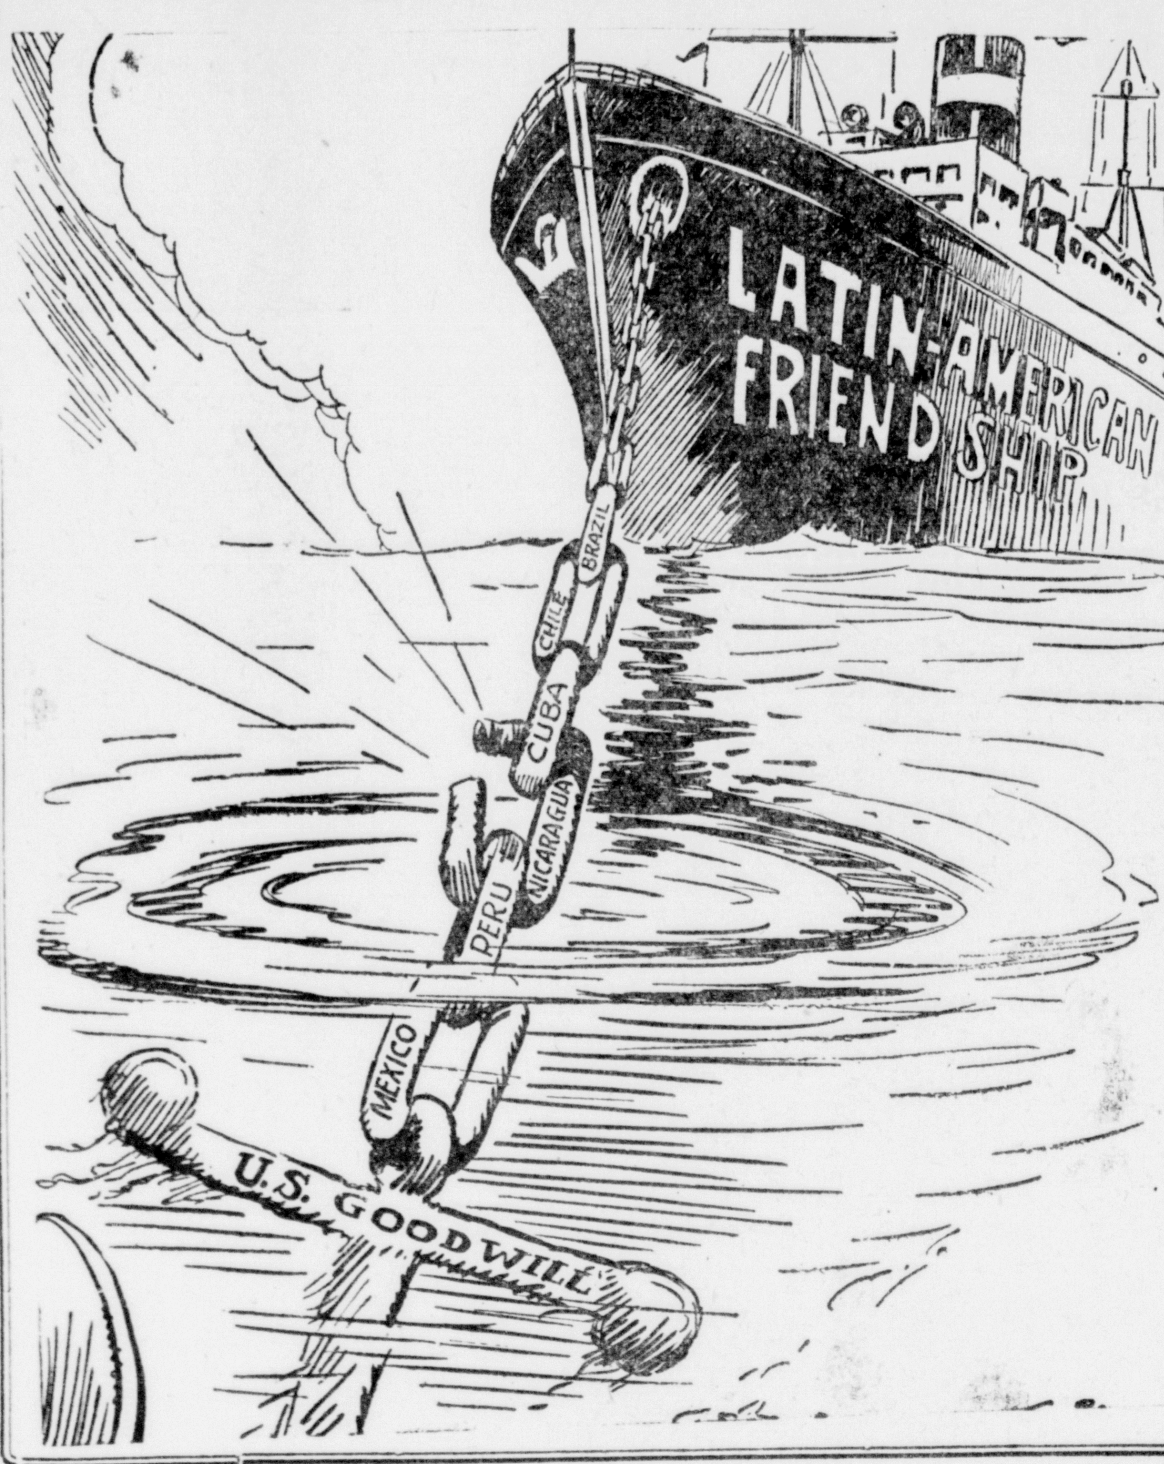

One of the things you wonder are fussy about is care of their plush seats. If you place your feet on the seat opposite, either the conductor or a soldier will ask you to remove them. If he finds that you have carelessly put your feet up again, you are quite likely to pay a fine. I had tried to compromise by laying a newspaper under my feet to protect the seat, and the conductor stared at them a long time, as if trying to figure out how to remove a new and unexpected situation, but he did nothing more than raise his eyebrows in a deprecating manner.

It would be a glorious experience to stay in Venice for months or even a year, becoming familiar with its canal routes, and with its narrow half-like alleys, many of them only four feet wide, but one can't quite imagine himself calling this home.

Today's Styles Demand Perfectly Groomed Hair

The strictly masculine bob is passe. Hair sheared close, and plastered down tight against the head, is no longer in popular favor. The chic woman of 1928 is distinctly feminine, and her hair must bear the picture out. It must be softly becoming, but simple—none of the frizzed or "ratted" extravaganzas of a few years ago. And the keynote of the new coiffure is perfect grooming.

To be delightfully feminine, hair must be luxuriously enough to fall into graceful lines that flatter the shape of the head. This applies equally to short and to long hair. Speaking of which, the new influx of long locks should not be allowed to worry you who are devoted to the comfort of the bob. Long hair is really not the long hair of pre-war times. It rarely falls far below the shoulders and is sometimes simply long in spots.

Never in the history of feminine coiffures has proper daily care of the hair been so important. In the first place, one is tempted to pass bobbed or semi-bobbed hair over with much less attention than the long tresses that had to have the snarls brushed out. It is waved and combed into place, and that is all that happens to it. In reality, short hair should have more care because all of it is visible—there is no hiding loose ends under knots or hairnets.

Keep your hair luxuriously and perfectly groomed by giving it plenty of stimulation, being meticulous in your shampooing, keeping it free from any traces of dandruff, toning and nourishing your scalp. In my talks this week I am going to tell you just how to apply these principles to keep your hair fit for the modern styles. For however much finger waving or curling you give your hair, there is nothing that can take the place of the natural sheen and vitality that come only from a healthy, active scalp. In winter, especially, your hair must stand the test of close scrutiny. You spend much of your time interested in the saving grace of a hat. People are closer to you, your background is closer to you, and there is no camouflaging imperfections.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Birth Paralysis

Mrs. S. has an adopted boy of seven whose right arm is shorter and more helpless than his left. It is said to be a birth paralysis. She wants to know if anything but exercise will be of benefit. The boy is very bright, and uses his arm considerably, and it seems stronger than it was two years ago.

Paralysis of the arm—the so-called birth paralysis—may result when there is a very difficult delivery and the arm has to be pulled out; there is believed to be an injury to the nerve which supplies the arm. Kaiser Wilhelm is probably the most noted of the sufferers of this paralysis.

The condition is first noticed a few days after the birth, when it is found the baby doesn't use the arm, or uses it very little. The arm must be kept warm and at rest, and probably in a splint, and perhaps very gentle massage use daily. After two or three weeks, when the active injury is healed, massage and exercise will be prescribed. The resulting paralysis depends upon the degree of injury to the nerves. If it has not been very great, it may pass away in a few months. If it is very severe, it may be because scar tissue has formed around the nerves, and sometimes an operation freeing the nerves is successfully performed.

As your little boy seems to be improving, I suggest you go to an orthopedic surgeon and let him prescribe special exercises for the arm, Mrs. S. Meanwhile you can keep up daily massage and have him use his arm as much as possible. Perhaps it may never be perfect, but we'll hope it will be much better.

Speaking of difficult labors, I must remind you all that one of the causes is an overfat baby and house on one of the canals, and feeling settled for life—somehow there is something wrong with the picture.

an overfat mother. Normal weight mothers should know that there is absolutely no need of their gaining more than 12 to 15 pounds during pregnancy. Any gain over this amount may be harmful. If the mother is overweight, it is wise for her to reduce, very slowly. While an over-fatting diet in the mother doesn't always produce an over-fat baby—sometimes the reverse happens—it may be laying the foundation for many disturbances. The wrong diet at this time is one of the causes of eclampsia, or convulsions of pregnancy.

(We have an article on Diet in Pregnancy and Nursing which you may have. Send only a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request. And if you are interested, enclose ten cents in coin extra, to cover cost of printing and handling. But don't forget the self-addressed, stamped envelope!)

Sweetened Condensed Milk for Babies

"My baby boy of 19 months, weighs 31 pounds. When I weaned him, I gave him sweetened, condensed milk formula, which I still use. Many of my friends tell me that it will cause the teeth to decay. The baby has never had a sick day and has 12 teeth, all sound and white. But I'm worried. Please give me your ideas."

"Your baby is too old now to be having a formula, Mrs. B. He should have whole milk and a husky diet. You didn't say what else you were feeding him, and as he has good teeth, you are probably giving him pureed vegetables, unless he is a very tall baby, he is too fat, and his too-fatness undoubtedly is due to the very sweet milk formula. Too fat babies are not strong, and their resistance to infection is lowered."

Not infrequently, children's specialists advise the sweetened condensed milk formula for a very short time to tide the baby over when he needs mostly energy food, but the consensus of opinion is that this should not be continued.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Casserole Spaghetti and Leftover Meat—Use any kind leftover meat, put through food chopper. Have from one to two cups meat, butter casserole, one can spaghetti, with sauce, put in thin layer in casserole, then layer of ground meat, dot with butter, add little salt and pepper, continue filling casserole with alternate layers of meat and spaghetti, moisten with a little salt or hot water, heat through thoroughly, serve in casserole.

Cheese and Nut Roast—One cup grated cheese, two cups mashed potatoes, one cup chopped walnuts, one onion, minced, one tablespoon butter, two eggs, salt, pepper and celery salt to taste, bacon.

Cook minced onion, in butter, for few minutes, mix other ingredients together, add cooked onion, moisten with a little hot water, form into loaf, cover with bacon strips, bake in buttered pan for about 30 minutes, sprinkle with tomato sauce.

Combination Spinach, Rice, Carrots—Cook spinach without using any water. Cook rice so that the grains will be plump, tender and stand alone, scrape carrots (about three medium carrots). Steam until tender. Drain spinach (save liquid for soup stock), butter, salt and pepper spinach, put in center of platter, surround with rice mounds, put carrots in ricker with salt and pepper and small piece of butter, now hold rice over platter of spinach and rice, and distribute evenly over all. The color combination is very pleasing and the addition of carrots does away with the necessity of hard cooked eggs (as far as color is concerned).

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Warren W. Jones dropped into Washington from Harrisburg the other day, with a scheme to reform the soft coal industry—a scheme that has some of the government folks, notably in the bureau of mines and the labor department, not to mention several American Labor Federation officials, congressmen from coal-producing districts and a number of bituminous operators, more than a trifle interested.

It looks as if it might become quite an issue.

Jones is a young Pennsylvania lawyer, but he was reared on a soft coal diet, in a bituminous mining family of four generations' standing, and probably can qualify as an expert as well as anybody.

He explains his plan in a pamphlet—"Bituminous Coal Stabilization."

"It's uneconomic," announced economists.

"What of it?" reply practical politicians, who don't care a hoot whether it's economic or not, if it will work to the extent of curing a state of industrial stagnation that's worried them infernally for years, and threatens to keep it up indefinitely.

Regularly every winter there's a soft coal strike or lockout. There is now—idle miners—starving families—fighting in spots—owning wowing the near bankruptcy—the public sees—everybody ugly.

This makes political trouble, especially in the soft coal states, of which there are 30—with the rest suffering indirectly.

Jones starts thus—A lot more soft coal's available than there's a demand for—consequently, cut-throat competition. If a mine yields readily, as owners make some money. If it's expensive to work, his profits are doubtful. Naturally the industry likes frequent tieups, to unload its over-product. It's unhealthy, a nuisance and a poor industry to work for.

The sensible thing would be for all the mines to suspend, except the cheapest and best producers—just enough to supply the demand, and no more. True, the owners who staid in business might boost prices unduly, but that would bring back some of the suspended mines into operation. The surplus miners would have to find new jobs, but they couldn't be worse off than they are now, and the others would have steady employment.

There'd be all 'round stabilization.

However, none of the owners will suspend.

If they did, they know their dividends would stop. By doing their damndest even under present hard conditions, they hope to earn a little something.

They'd suspect if the government would guarantee them a small return for doing it, but that would be a subsidy—thumbs down on it.

Or the government could take over the mines and run them on business principles, but that would be nationalization—"socialistic"—thumbs down on that, likewise.

So Jones proposes to collect from the mines which are chosen to remain in operation, enough to pay a few per cent to the mines which are forced to suspend—until they're needed.

Thus dodging both a subsidy and nationalization, yet achieving stability.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Are girls doing the right thing when they deceive their parents and meet their young friends—of whom their parents do not approve—"around the corner"? Are they "playing fair" or safe? Here are two letters from young girls who are doing just that, and they ask my advice.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: We are two girls in our teens and care very much for two young fellows. As our fathers do not approve of them we cannot take them home, but have been meeting them secretly. Our mothers do not like. Please tell us how to overcome our parents' objections."

"Two Pals." "Dear Mrs. Lee: We are two girls in our teens. Our mothers are rather strict about the company we keep. Some nights we go out with two fellows whom we know are perfectly respectable, but our mothers do not like. We think that we are doing right and that our mothers are not fair. Will you please give us some advice on this subject?"

"The Two Doubtfuls." I imagine from your letters that none of you are very happy about a situation that calls for deceit and probably the telling of a lot of little lies, are you, dears? It doesn't put the boys in a very good light, either, to coax you to meet them around the corner, does it?

Does it? You do owe your parents something, don't you? They treat you pretty well, and you'd expect them to back you to the limit if you got into a jam, wouldn't you? Talk the matter over with them again, and if you can't make them see the matter in your light give the boys up, telling them, of course, why. I really think the boys themselves will feel better and like you more if you do.

Should a girl continue to friends with a boy who insults her?

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Several months ago I fell violently in love with a boy I met at a dance. I didn't see him again for several months. Two months ago he came to my party and he kissed me ever so many times, a thing I had never allowed other boys to do. He is forever asking of me the most insulting things a boy could ask of a respectable girl. How can I break him of this habit? When I correct him he is very sorry, for the time being. I love him too much to give him up. What shall I do?"

"Poly Anna G." The next time he offends tell him you will have nothing more to do with him and stick to it, even if it is dreadfully hard. You made a mistake in allowing him to kiss you, you see. He thinks that you will allow other liberties.

Peter's Adventure

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE WELCOME OF THE TRIBE

How to make Chief Crow understand what ink was, Peter did not know. Luckily for him at the moment Crow demanded to know something happened that saved him from having to make any explanations.

Hopping a few inches away from his companions, one of the crows down in the snow raised his head, stretched his neck, opened his beak and cried:

"Caw! Caw! Ca-ca-caw!"

Raising their heads, stretching their necks and opening their big black beaks, as if obeying a signal, one after another of the crows gave the tribal cry of welcome.

"Caw! Caw! Caw!" answered Chief Crow. At last, with a final graceful dip, the Chief alighted on his feet in the snow and right in the very center of the semi-circle. Slowly he folded his wings to rest at his sides, and the birds got their first good glimpse of Peter.

They gazed at him curiously, leaning forward with lifted wings and peering first with one eye and then with the other, their black heads twisted now to the side, now to that. Then the astonished birds began to question their returned leader excitedly. Chief Crow lifted one claw reprovingly and said:

"Here! Here! That will do, my warriors. One of you speak at a time!"

Evidently Chief Crow's word was law in the tribe. At his command all the clamor ceased and the fellow who had given the signal for the welcome chorus spoke.

"Greeting, Chieftain!" said he. "Your people are happy to have you back again. But who is this stranger that you have brought upon your back? Surely it is not some kind of game. It looks as if it would make tough eating!"

Peter shivered slightly. "He wondered if he had been landed among cannibals, and for a brief moment he doubted Chief Crow. But that fellow cawed with amusement."

jeered he, "and I advise you not to try to find out for 'it' as you call the stranger is a boy. I should think you would guess that he is a human by his two legs. I have asked him to visit us for a while."

The crows blinked with surprise, but in a second they remembered their manners and bowed to the boy politely. Peter, however, was not at all sure that the crows were glad to see him. In fact the spokesman of the tribe said as much.

"Of course, what you do the tribe stands by, Chieftain, and we shall do our duty by your guest. Do you think, though, that you acted well or wisely to bring him here just now? Remember, he makes one more mouth to feed and he looks as if he would demand a great deal to eat."

Chief Crow cawed his chuckly caw a second time.

"Now, don't you worry about here is a good friend of ours. He has a surprise in store for you—a good one, too. He will tell you himself, only I am not going to let him say a word before my wife hears about it. If ever she found out that I had news that I hadn't told her first she would never forgive me. She does love good tidings you know. By the way, does any one know how she is now? I left her feeling rather weak and miserable this morning. I hope the cherry message the boy brings will help her to forget that I didn't fetch her the morsel of food that she is hungering for."

CONTRIBUTIONS TO RELIEF FUND STILL COMING IN SLOWLY

Additional contributions for relief of suffering children of unemployed, especially in the mining districts of the state, were received at the Company L Armory Monday, Captain O. H. Cornwell announces.

Local committees are doing everything possible and are accomplishing much but there is still a pressing need for more donations of clothes, food and money, he says.

Captain Cornwell announces that the present local need is boxes in which to ship clothing and food to headquarters at Columbus. At present, there is a shortage and business men of the city are particularly asked to communicate with Captain Cornwell if they have any boxes available.

Donations received so far have consisted largely of clothing. One small box of food was shipped away last week and another box of canned goods was received this week.

Clothing which has been donated is for older children. The need for baby clothes is also great. Citizens are urged to contribute baby clothing as well providing there is not too great a sentimental value attached.

Dr. R. H. Grube, county health commissioner, received a letter Tuesday in regard to a conference held last Thursday afternoon at the State Health Department in which a plan was worked out in co-operation with officials of the adjacent general's department for further relief work, especially in Perry and Hocking Counties.

These counties, according to reports, seem to present the greatest need for relief work. All of the health officials agreed that the situation is acute, and various plans to assure the co-operation of the state health department with local health organizations were discussed.

The commissioners reported that not more than the usual amount of sickness is prevalent, but because of insufficient food and clothing they are apprehensive of an early change of conditions for the worse.

BOWLING

Rolling in its best form, the league-leading Greene County Lumber Co. bowling quintet crashed the maples for a three-game total of 2,916, about thirty pins shy of the league record, while setting back the Buicks three straight games in a Recreation League match Monday night.

The league leaders turned in games of 1,027, 919 and 970. Three members of the team had 600 series. Blackburn showed the way with 639, followed by Swindler with 619 and Peterson with 605. Wagner led the losers with 615.

The last-place Los Ramos Cigars came out of their slump to trim the Studebaker Commanders two out of three games in another league match the same evening. Anderson topped the winners with a 624 total. Highley was runner-up with 595. Malavazos led the losers with 608.

Marvin Stevens, above, assistant coach under Tad Jones, has been appointed head coach for football at Yale University, succeeding Tad, who resigned last year.

THREE BEGIN JAIL TERMS FOR FAILING TO PAY COURT FINES

Isaiah Shaffer, Yellow Springs; "Cap" Stephens, Jamestown, and Earl Robinson, colored, Cedarville, convicted a year ago in Probate Court on charges of illegal sale of liquor, were committed to the County Jail Tuesday morning by Judge S. C. Wright for defaulting in payment of fines of $400 and costs assessed in each case.

They were arrested during a county-wide "cleanup" drive conducted about a year ago by Prosecutor J. C. Marshall, assisted by state prohibition agents.

Their convictions were appealed to Common Pleas Court and then to the Greene County Court of Appeals.

In each instance the findings of the trial court were confirmed.

Probate Court recently received a special mandate from the appellate court to carry the judgments into execution.

The trio reported into court Tuesday and were committed to jail for non-payment of the fines and costs.

CENTRAL PLAYS BATH HIGH AND MIAMISBURG TEAMS THIS WEEK

Anticipating two of what are possibly the hardest struggles on the present basketball schedule, Coach Victor Kolb is continuing his present practice of drills combined with new offensive formations in preparation for Central High School's week-end games with Bath Twp. and Miamisburg High Schools.

Xenia will face its foremost Greene County rival in Bath Twp. at the local gym Friday night. Saturday night the Blue and White will play its third game in the Miami Valley League of High School Athletics, meeting the always-strong Miamisburg quintet on the Burgers' floor.

Central has rung up two straight league victories, defeating Greenville and Troy without trouble, and Miamisburg, Sidney and Piqua. The only obstacle remaining to block a clear road to the league championship.

Since ending their four-game losing streak, the local hoopers have registered three straight victories and have exhibited great possibilities for a successful season.

With a decided improvement shown in both basket-shooting and general floor technique, the Kolbmen have only to maintain this pace to give Bath and Miamisburg high-class opposition this week-end. One more victory will place Xenia on an even basis in the percentage column, four won and four lost.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO RELIEF FUND STILL COMING IN SLOWLY

Additional contributions for relief of suffering children of unemployed, especially in the mining districts of the state, were received at the Company L Armory Monday, Captain O. H. Cornwell announces.

That committees are doing everything possible and are accomplishing much but there is still a pressing need for more donations of clothes, food and money, he says.

Captain Cornwell announces that the present local need is boxes in which to ship clothing and food to headquarters at Columbus. At present, there is a shortage and business men of the city are particularly asked to communicate with Captain Cornwell if they have any boxes available.

Donations received so far have consisted largely of clothing. One small box of food was shipped away last week and another box of canned goods was received this week.

Clothing which has been donated is for older children. The need for baby clothes is also great. Citizens are urged to contribute baby clothing as well providing there is not too great a sentimental value attached.

Dr. R. H. Grube, county health commissioner, received a letter Tuesday in regard to a conference held last Thursday afternoon at the State Health Department in which a plan was worked out in co-operation with officials of the adjacent general's department for further relief work, especially in Perry and Hocking counties.

These counties, according to reports, seem to present the greatest need for relief work. All of the health officials agreed that the situation is acute, and various plans to assure the co-operation of the state health department with local health organizations were discussed.

The commissioners reported that not more than the usual amount of sickness is prevalent, but because of insufficient food and clothing they are apprehensive of an early change of conditions for the worse.

BOWLING

Rolling in its best form, the league-leading Greene County Lumber Co. bowling quintet crashed the maples for a three-game total of 2,916, about thirty pin shy of the league record, while setting back the Buicks three straight games in a Recreation League match Monday night.

The league leaders turned in games of 1,027, 919 and 970. Three members of the team had 600 series. Blackburn showed the way with 639, followed by Swindler with 619 and Peterson with 605. Wagner led the losers with 615.

The last-place Los Ramos Cigars came out of their slump to trim the Studebaker Commanders two out of three games in another league match the same evening. Anderson topped the winners with a 624 total. Highly was runner-up with 595. Malavazos led the losers with 608.

MAYOR'S COURT

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS FINED
Michael Hicks, Dayton, O., was fined $5 and costs for speeding and Warren Davis, Yellow Springs, was assessed $2 for driving past the red light by Mayor John W. Prugh Monday. They were arrested by Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman.

BEG PARDON
Mrs. Elsie Murrell was involved in a factory dispute which resulted in two women being given suspended fines and suspended jail sentences by Mayor Prugh Monday, only as a witness in the case and had not been arrested as police announced, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Succeeds Tad Jones

THREE BEGIN JAIL TERMS FOR FAILING TO PAY COURT FINES

Isaiah Shaffer, Yellow Springs; "Cap" Stephens, Jamestown, and Earl Robinson, colored, Cedarville, convicted a year ago in Probate Court on charges of illegal sale of liquor, were committed to the County Jail Tuesday morning by Judge S. C. Wright for defaulting in payment of fines of $400 and costs assessed in each case.

They were arrested during a county-wide "cleanup" drive conducted about a year ago by Prosecutor J. C. Marshall assisted by state prohibition agents.

Their convictions were appealed to Common Pleas Court and then to the Greene County Court of Appeals.

In each instance the findings of the trial court were confirmed. Probate Court recently received a special mandate from the appellate court to carry the judgments into execution.

The trio reported into court Tuesday and were committed to jail for non-payment of the fines and costs.

MORGAN WILL FACE SENTENCE SOON

John Morgan, colored, E. Market St., is expected to be brought into Common Pleas Court Tuesday or Wednesday for sentence on an indictment by the October grand jury for receiving stolen property. Re-arrested Friday by O. H. Cornwell, county road patrolman, Morgan was identified through fingerprints as the intruder who staged a day-light robbery of a tenant house occupied by Harry Stevens on the E. S. Foust farm, off the Jamestown Pike, December 22.

LEE MEADOWS

Famous Pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates, writes:

"It requires splendid physical condition and steady nerves to take your regular turn on the mound season after season and in looking for my cigarette I was anxious to find one which could be smoked without taxing my wind or irritating my throat. I decided upon Luckies and I can safely say that I am never troubled with a cough and my wind is in splendid shape." Lee Meadows

FLYING TO FLORIDA FOR WEEK-ENDS IS STINSON PROPHECY

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 24.—"Within a year, New York business men will week-end in Florida through the winter," was the prediction today of Eddie Stinson, Detroit airplane manufacturer and pilot who made a non-stop flight of 1,100 miles from Chicago in seven hours and fifty-five minutes with two passengers.

"In a year," said Stinson, "a man flying across the continent will be no more a novelty than it was to take the first automobile ride twenty-five years ago."

"American business men demand the elimination of time in the conduct of business and the airplane does it. Night flying has been so greatly developed and improved that there will be no delay."

"Arthur Brisbane travels across the continent three times a month by rail, talking airplanes all the time. He'll have his own plane next and will take a dozen trips in the time he now makes three."

"Air mail carriers have demonstrated the feasibility of night flying and it won't be long now before the radio beacon will conquer the fog difficulty. It will make landing in a fog as easy as a railroad train makes its station. I can see a wonderful development along this line by next year. The government and private agencies are doing much work along this line. Henry Ford doing especially fine work."

"Next year," Stinson said, "will see non-stop airplanes running in all directions over the country." Stinson flew here with two passengers in a Stinson-Detroit plane from Chicago in order to deliver the plane to A. S. Kirby, Chicago and Tampa capitalist. Kirby plans to commute between his Chicago and Tampa offices weekly by plane. He plans to fly to Tampa one day and return to Chicago the next.

CLASSES CONTINUE

LEGAL NOTICE

Common Pleas Court, Greene County, Ohio.

In the Matter of The Church of the Nazarene, Xenia, Ohio.

Notice is hereby given, that The Church of the Nazarene, Xenia, Ohio, has filed its petition in the Common Pleas Court of Greene County, Ohio, and that the prayer of said Church be granted authority by the Court to incur its real estate by mortgage, to secure a loan of Eighteen Hundred Dollars ($1,800.00), with interest at seven (7) per cent, payable semi-annually, the proceeds of said loan to be used in paying off a mortgage incumbrance now on said real estate, and that the real estate which is to be mortgaged, is a part of Lot Number Thirty Two (No. 32) of Drake and Leamans Addition to the City of Xenia, Ohio.

Said petition will be for hearing on and after the 27th day of February, 1928.

THIS CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE, Xenia, Ohio.

Harry D. Smith,
Attorney for Petitioner.
(1-24-31 and 2-7-14.)

JOSEPH WOODS DIES SUDDENLY MONDAY

Joseph Woods, 60, lineman for the Dayton Power and Light Co., here, died suddenly at the offices of Dr. Marshall Best, W. Main St., Monday night at 10:20 o'clock.

Mr. Woods worked all day Monday and ate a hearty dinner in the evening. He suffered a chill soon after eating and was taken by fellow workman to Dr. Best's offices. After receiving medical attention, he dozed off and suddenly expired. Death is attributed to acute dilatation of the heart.

Mr. Woods has no near surviving relatives. He was employed with a telephone company in Cincinnati and later with the Bell Co. in Xenia, and has been with the Dayton Power and Light Co., some time.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

FLYING TO FLORIDA FOR WEEK-ENDS IS STINSON PROPHECY

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 24—"Within a year, New York business men will week-end in Florida through the winter," was the prediction today of Eddie Stinson, Detroit airplane manufacturer and pilot who made a non-stop flight of 1,100 miles from Chicago in seven hours and fifty-five minutes with two passengers.

"In a year," said Stinson, "a man flying across the continent will be no more a novelty than it was to take the first automobile ride twenty-five years ago."

"American business men demand the elimination of time in the conduct of business and the airplane does it. Night flying has been so greatly developed and improved that there will be no delay."

"Arthur Brisbane travels across the continent three times a month by rail, talking airplanes all the time. He'll have his own plane next and will take a dozen trips in the time he now makes three."

"Air mail carriers have demonstrated the feasibility of night flying and it won't be long now before the radio beacon will conquer the fog difficulty. It will make landing in a fog as easy as a railroad train makes its station. I can see a wonderful development along this line by next year. The government and private agencies are doing much work along this line, Henry Ford doing especially fine work."

"Next year," Stinson said, "will see non-stop airplanes running in all directions over the country."

JOSEPH WOODS DIES SUDDENLY MONDAY

Joseph Woods, 60, lineman for the Dayton Power and Light Co. here, died suddenly at the offices of Dr. Marshall Best, W. Main St., Monday night at 10:20 o'clock.

Mr. Woods worked all day Monday and ate a hearty dinner in the evening. He suffered a chill soon after eating and was taken by fellow workmen to Dr. Best's office. After receiving medical attention, he dozed off and suddenly expired. Death is attributed to acute dilatation of the heart.

Mr. Woods has no near surviving relatives. He was employed with a telephone company in Cincinnati and later with the Bell Co. in Xenia, and has been with the Dayton Power and Light Co. some time.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

"Never has an opera singer of established position made such a fiasco of a role as Mme. Jeritza made of Carmen," says Pierre V. R. Key, noted critic.

"You couldn't buy a ticket on the day of the performance for love or money. So we must admit that, while the music arts are steadily gaining in appreciation, there is an undiminished demand for something which promises a surprise.

"Musically and vocally, Jeritza transgressed much which any serious and sincere artist generally wishes to observe, she treated many a measure with what seemed a contemptuous indifference and her voice often trailed off into little more than a whisper. The soprano sang persistently out of tune and rarely with any appreciation for the musical phrase or the mood of the moment. Physically, this artist had no dash; she moved about the stage in long, cat-like strides and seemed to take an especial delight in elevating one foot and thrusting it at some fellow principal. In between she lounged in a wheelchair or on a table. The prevailing opinion was that Mme. Jeritza and General Manager Gatti-Casazza had missed their target."

Dolores Del Rio, exotic Mexican beauty, who has risen to the heights of filmdom within two short years, will be starred in seven new pictures for United Artists, each production to cost half a million dollars. Miss Del Rio, director, Edwin Carewe and Joseph M. Schenck, president of the United Artists, signed a long-term contract.

Twenty Years '08- Ago -'28

Eleven of the inmates of the Xenia Workhouse have been given their liberty this week. During the recent mild weather, the softened roads have been greatly damaged by handling heavy loads over them, with the result County Commissioners plan to enforce the state law regarding the weight of loads.

A four-room cottage on the Lower Bellbrook Pike, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Irons, was destroyed by fire. Mr. Earl Hankins, a fireman on the Pennsylvania Railroad, returned home from Cleveland, where he attended the convention for the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen.

JACK and JILL

A MODERN STORY OF LOVE AND ROMANCE
By CLIFFORD WEBB, AUTHOR OF "BROKEN THREADS" "TWIN LOVES" "THE SOB SISTER" ETC.
© 1928 THE CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION, INC.

It occurred to Jack that Father Ryan had known Jill since birth, so naturally he would know about her mother.

"How long has Mrs. Justin been dead, Father?" he asked casually. "Or is she dead?"

He knew instantly his question was one of deeper import than he had expected to encounter. This was indicated by the gleam that leaped into life in the priest's tell-tale eyes.

"Mrs. Justin is—not dead," Father Ryan stated slowly, hesitatingly, as though admittance cost him an effort. "At least," he added, in the same careful vein, "she was alive a month ago. She lives in New York with her brother, a bachelor. Peter and she separated 12 years ago."

The matter was shrouded in more or less mystery—incompatibility, it was said. Peter seldom mentions her name. The brother with whom she lives is fairly wealthy. Jill has been to visit her mother, Tony goes once or twice a year.

Peter Justin evidently considered his prospective son-in-law was entitled to an introduction to the family skeleton. The presentation, however, entailed scarcely anything more than Jack had already been told.

Misunderstandings, said Peter, aggravated by dislike of life in a small town, and the fact that ease and luxury were hers for the taking, had all combined to bring about the separation. Thus matters stood in Peter Justin's family.

The stifling heat of the early September evening was beginning to abate, although the ground still gave off an enervating humidity. To escape the torrid discomfort Jack Stuart drew himself up into the high crotch of an ancient apple tree, the lofty branches of which brushed the eaves of the cottage. He would wait until Jill came out and surprise her.

Twilight's darkening shadows creeping up the broad mountain-side in the rear of the little home cast something of a gloom over the adjacent land. An ominous silence that invariably precedes an electrical storm hung over the entire valley like a great threatening cloud.

Jack scarcely had settled himself in the tree crotch when the sound of familiar voices struck on his ear. He recognized Father Ryan's deep, booming tones, and the next instant the priest and Peter Justin paused under the apple tree. Even as he drew in his breath to speak—to make his presence known—he was silenced by the words he heard.

CHILDREN SPURRED TO USE LIBRARY

Have you noticed recently how often you see children either in the library or with library books in their hands when you meet them on the street?

As a well known advertisement says, "There's a reason." Children love to read if the books given them are capable of stimulating their imaginations, answering their questions or arousing their admiration and curiosity.

But there is another reason. In the late spring those children who have read ten books from the library will be awarded a diploma by the County Library and the school jointly. In addition the library has promised to put a gold seal on the diplomas of the children reading fifteen books and another seal for each additional five books read. The idea is not to force the number of books read but to give each child a record of what has stood to him for so much in his life.

BLAMES PROHIBITION

The editor of a small town paper offered a prize for the best answer to the query: "Have you benefited by prohibition?"

Among the replies received appeared the following: "Yes, and NO! For—although my husband has more change in his pockets—he doesn't sleep as soundly!"

"My skin was a sight"

"I couldn't look people in the face, I was so ashamed of my skin! It was always blotched with pimples and blackheads and at times itched terribly. I had tried everything and was so discouraged that I couldn't bring myself to take hope in anything. You can imagine my surprise therefore when one application of Rowles Mentho Sulphur almost completely cleared my skin. I could have danced with joy. In a short time you wouldn't know my skin—it was so clear, so soft and white."

Thousands of people are discovering that there is a remedy for skin trouble—even fiery, itching eczema! It's the magical combination of sulphur and menthol—sulphur for clearing the skin, menthol for healing the broken and irritated tissue. Rowles Mentho Sulphur is inexpensive and all drug stores supply it in jars ready to use. Be sure it's Rowles.

INSTRUCTION ON FARM ACCOUNTS TO BE HELD SATURDAY

A half-day school of instruction for keeping farm accounts will be held in the Court House, Saturday, January 28, at 9:30 a. m. The school will be headed by C. R. Arnold, department of rural economics, Ohio State University.

All teachers of the seventh and eighth grades who teach this work are expected to attend. This furnishes about two weeks work and is given in alternate years to the seventh and eighth grades combined, using the arithmetic periods. The books to supply all children are sent by the University to Geyer Book Shop where they may be obtained.

This is the same course which has been given in the county by the Farm Bureau for several years.

IT DOES ONE THING -STOPS HEADACHES

Dr. James' Method

When physicians treat you for headache, they don't rely on a general "pain killer." They prescribe the thing they know acts directly to stop headache. Here's a famous physician's prescription for headache, which millions of people have proved safe and dependable. Dr. James' Headache Powders are just for headache—nothing else. That's why they act so quick. They stop the worst headaches in two minutes—all others in a minute. They never fail. Next time, ask for Dr. James' Headache Powders, and see that you get them. They're a dime at any drug store.

HELEN GEGNER DIES MONDAY AFTERNOON

Miss Helen Louise Gegner, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Gegner, Yellow Springs, formerly of Xenia, died at her parents' home Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. She had been ill a year and had been bedfast since July 1. Death was caused by complications.

Helen Louise was a student at Yellow Springs High School until illness forced her to give up her studies a year ago. She was born in Xenia, July 22, 1912, moving to Yellow Springs with her parents eight years ago.

Surviving are her parents, one brother, Louis and one sister, Dorothy, at home. Another sister, Margaret, died six years ago.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m., at the home with burial in Ferncliff Cemetery, Yellow Springs.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, a relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes all fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring away from the system without purging.

Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips" Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles Phillips Chemical Co. and predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

It was the first time Jack Stuart had ever heard Peter make any reference whatever to the mother of his children. Nor had Jill ever mentioned her. If he had ever given the matter a thought, which was unlikely, he had assumed Mrs. Justin to be dead. Something, however, in Peter's voice and his words "without a mother" struck him as odd.

From the night of their first meeting and almost tragic circumstances attending it, Jill's brother, Tony, and Jack, had been friends. It was Tony who voiced the proposal that Jack leave Mrs. Logan's and come to the home of his fiancée to board.

"That'll furnish an excuse for the hiring of another woman to help with the housework," he had pointed out to his father, and his prospective brother-in-law, Tony had

"All the world loves a lover, they say."

READ THIS FIRST:

Jack and Jill, just turned 20, ultra modern and as lambscently lovely as the saga they start out on a moon, lit night in August to attend a harvest festival. With her brother, Tony, one year her junior, at the wheel of their flivver, the pair round the foot of a mountain on the outskirts of their home town of Elliston, W. Va., just in time to witness an automobile hold-up, when a young man driving a high-powered roadster is thrown from his car by two bandits after having, apparently, been shot.

Immediately following the shooting, Tony is black-jacked and Jill is thrown into the roadster, and held by one bandit while the other speeds the car toward the hills. As the machine starts, the girl sees a form rise from the ground and stealthily climb on the rear end. An hour later, Jack accepts the offer, goes under a cloud, Jack Stuart, owner of the roadster, gains the running board, and with his service pistol, hits one of the bandits and gains control of the situation.

Leaving the bandits securely bound by the roadside, Jack takes Jill back home, where Tony is found with a sore head but alive.

Peter Justin, Jill's father, out of gratitude for saving his daughter, invites Stuart to remain and accept a job in a glass factory, with a view to learning the glass blowing trade. Jack accepts the offer, Jack asks Jill to marry him. Do you love me, Jack? asks Jill. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

Jack Stuart had been asking him, self that same question, and he felt that he knew beyond any fear of doubt, now, the answer to make.

"Yes, Jill, dear heart of mine, you must know I love you!" The words came in a rush of sudden passion, and he caught the slim body in his arms, drawing it close to him. "I love you—love you, my Jill, my glorious Jill!" he cried, in a voice that shook with intensity.

The girl's hands slipped to his shoulders, and then locked behind his neck. The dusky head bent backward and the parted lips invited his own. He leaned down and kissed her.

All the world loves a lover, so they say, and anybody's love story is everybody's affair in a town of 15,000 inhabitants.

Two days after Jack Stuart had kissed her, thereby sealing the engagement, a majority of the English speaking people of Elliston knew that he was to marry Jill Justin in October.

Everybody, that is, save Father Ryan. He had been visiting in another town during those two days, and so it transpired that Jack Stuart, himself, was the one who told the priest.

"You have my blessing, my son," declared the latter, with fervor, his deep-set eyes glowing. "My blessing and my most earnest prayers for your happiness—Jill's and yours. Please tell her for me that Father Ryan is glad—for her!"

"Be patient with her, my boy," said Peter Justin, after assuring Jack that he was very happy that Jill had chosen so wisely. "She has her faults, of course, but remember, she has been without a mother ever since she was eight years old."

It was the first time Jack Stuart had ever heard Peter make any reference whatever to the mother of his children. Nor had Jill ever mentioned her. If he had ever given the matter a thought, which was unlikely, he had assumed Mrs. Justin to be dead. Something, however, in Peter's voice and his words "without a mother" struck him as odd.

From the night of their first meeting and almost tragic circumstances attending it, Jill's brother, Tony, and Jack, had been friends. It was Tony who voiced the proposal that Jack leave Mrs. Logan's and come to the home of his fiancée to board.

"That'll furnish an excuse for his hiring of another woman to help with the housework," he had pointed out to his father, and his prospective brother-in-law, Tony had

It occurred to Jack that Father Ryan had known Jill since birth, so naturally he would know about her mother.

"How long has Mrs. Justin been dead, Father?" he asked casually. "Or is she dead?"

He knew instantly his question was one of deeper import than he had expected to encounter. This was indicated by the gleam that leaped into life in the priest's tell-tale eyes.

"Mrs. Justin is not dead," Father Ryan stated slowly, hesitatingly, as though admittance cost him an effort. "At least," he added, in the same careful vein, "she was alive a month ago. She lives in New York with her brother, a bachelor. Peter and she separated 12 years ago."

"The matter was shrouded in more or less mystery—incompatibility, it was said. Peter seldom mentions her name. The brother with whom she lives is fairly wealthy, I've heard. Jill has been to visit her mother, Tony goes once or twice a year."

Peter Justin evidently considered his prospective son-in-law was entitled to an introduction to the family skeleton. The presentation, however, entailed scarcely anything more than Jack had already been told.

Misunderstandings, said Peter, aggravated by dislike of life in a small town, and the fact that ease and luxury were hers for the taking, had all combined to bring about the separation. Thus matters stood in Peter Justin's family.

The stifling heat of the early September evening was beginning to abate, although the ground still gave off an enervating humidity. To escape the torrid discomfort, Jack Stuart drew himself up into the high crotch of an ancient apple tree, the lofty branches of which brushed the eaves of the cottage. He would wait until Jill came out and surprise her.

Twilight's darkening shadows creeping up the broad mountain side in the rear of the little home cast something of a gloom over the adjacent land. An ominous silence that invariably precedes an electrical storm hung over the entire valley like a great threatening cloud.

Jack scarcely had settled himself in the tree crotch when the sound of familiar voices struck on his ear. He recognized Father Ryan's deep, booming tones, and the next instant the priest and Peter Justin paused under the apple tree. Even as Jack drew in his breath to speak—to make his presence known—he was silenced by the words he heard.

Read tomorrow what Jack overhears while waiting for Jill.

CHILDREN SPURRED TO USE LIBRARY

Have you noticed recently how often you see children either in the library or with library books in their hands when you meet them on the street?

As a well known advertisement says, "There's a reason." Children love to read if the books given them are capable of stimulating their imaginations, answering their questions or arousing their admiration and curiosity.

But there is another reason. In the late spring those children who have read ten books from the library will be awarded a diploma by the County Library and the school jointly. In addition the library has promised to put a gold seal on the diplomas of the children reading fifteen books and another seal for each additional five books read. The idea is not to force the number of books read but to give each child a record of what has stood for so much in his life.

BLAMES PROHIBITION

The editor of a small town paper offered a prize for the best answer to the query: "Have you benefited by prohibition?"

Among the replies received appeared the following: "Yes, and No! For—although my pocketbook has more change in it, he doesn't sleep as soundly!"

"My skin was a sight"

"I couldn't look people in the face, I was so ashamed of my skin! It was all pimpled and blotched with pimples and blackheads and at times itched terribly. I had tried everything and was so discouraged that I couldn't bring myself to take hope in anything. You can imagine my surprise therefore when one application of Rowles' Mentho Sulphur almost completely cleared my skin. I could have danced with joy. In a short time you wouldn't know my skin—it was so clear, so soft and white."

"Thousands of people are discovering that there is a remedy for skin troubles—even fiery itching eczema! It's the magical combination of sulphur and menthol—sulphur for clearing the skin, menthol for healing the broken and irritated tissue. #### BELLBROOK

In the basketball games last Friday night, Bellbrook won both contests, the score for the boys against Bowersville being 42 to 8, and for the girls against the Bowersville girls, 20 to 18.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, of Dayton, were visitors in the home of Mrs. Ryan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hopkins, last week.

Mrs. Della Hopkins and daughter, Lauradellona, moved to Cincinnati, last Monday.

H. A. Bonhaus gave his first movie entertainment at the Jr. O. U. A. M. Hall on last Wednesday night. He will exhibit at the same place on Wednesday night of each week. Those who were present Wednesday night pronounced his pictures first class in every respect.

Bellbrook will try conclusions with Spring Valley at the place on Friday night.

Faul Wright is on the sick list, threatened with appendicitis.

The postmaster who returned the letters to Ray Peterson, at Pittsburgh, announcing there was no postoffice by the name of Bellbrook in Ohio, had better look over the list again. Bellbrook has been a postoffice ever since 1815.
